NAMES THAT LIVE IN THE MUSIC TRADES

Mr. S. Kranz, formerly an attache of the Roosevelt Organ Co., is now in Chicago taking in the sights of the Fair. He is making a western trip settling up some old business of the house.

The Roosevelt Organ Company which was owned by members of the present-day Roosevelt family was later on transferred to the Farrand & Votey Organ Company, and by that concern to the Aeolin Company, now owners of these former plants.

Adam Schaaf is giving out a beautifully embossed card that bears the legend "The tone of the Adam Schaaf piano is as clear as a bell."

Mr. Harry Schaaf, son of Adam Schaaf, founder of the Adam Schaaf Company is today the president and chief owner of the house of Adm Schaaf, Inc., Chicago.

Mr. W. H. Bush, the veteran piano manufacturer, is a frequent visitor to the Fair. He is well pleased with the exhibit of his house in Section 1, and vidently is not worrying over the results of the examination by the judges.

Although W. H. Bush was the principal of W. H. Bush & Company, nevertheless his son, Wm. L. Bush, still residing in Chicago, was the main and active figure in the operations and establishment of this important piano manufacturing establishment.
